

1. If the students are caught plagiarizing each other, they will not pass the course. They could work together to help each other understand the coursework instead of copying.

2. Types of cheating include, but are not limited to:

Copying the work of another student or an uncited source and trying to pass it as your own.

Paying someone or a service to complete your work for you.

Having someone else impersonate you to take a test or turn in homework.

Working with one or more others to cheat.
